Senatorial Impeachers Caucus

No Conclusion as Regards Voting To-day.

Etc.,

Special to Indianapolis Daily Sentinel. WASHINGTON, Monday, May 25.

A Day of Interest. This has been a day of unusual interest Butler is in his glory. What the smell of fresh blood is to the tiger, is moral putrifaction to the olfactories of Butler, who, to-day, threw his head back, distanded his nostrils. and sniffed the air about him, in reporting a resolution to have Colonel Woolley arrested and brought to the bar of the House.

The Star Chamber Testimony. Butler reported the testimony taken before the Star Chamber Committee, involving the question of bribery of Senators. The testimony of Thurlew Weed was the main pillar to the Grant platform. It proves that he canvassed the propriety of buying radical Senators, but professes that he did not include either of the recreant Senators among those who voted for acquittal. All the purchasable material was among those voting for convic

Mr. Brooks suggested that the blanks in Butler's report be filled out with the names of Pomeroy and Nye, as the Se nators alluded to. Butler, without admitting that they were the Senators, said that the Senators whose names were omitted, voted for conviction. It is thus shown that the corruption was entirely a family affair and confined to the imthe Democratic side had any right to particl-

The most objectionable feature in the report was the unwarrantable manner in which the names of frominent gentlemen were dragged in. simply because they had telegraphed to parties who knew how impeachment stood. The evidence of McLeon and John S. G. Burt was thus introduced without a shadow of an excuse. Burt had been removed, and had applied three different times to be allowed to appear and explain the telegram, but was refused by Butler, who, after introducing the name of the witness, in an outrageous manner, discharged him without asking a single ques-

Colonel Woolley will appear at the bar of the House to-morrow to present his own defense; he will take the position that the House has no power to cause him to divulge the confidential business of his clients or to examine into his private business.

Brooks, of New York, entered into an eloquent argument against the outrage perpetrated on the telegraph offices by the Managers. He declared the companies which yielded to the demands forfeited all claim to public confidence. Brooks, also, protested, as a public journalist, against invasion of confidential relations existing between newspaper men and those from whom they procure news Eldridge, of Hows, threw some hot shot at Butler, but the radical member from Illinois, Baker, exploded the bembs in his rear.

The committee accepting the truth of this claimed tilness, did not send for the witness, but went on with their investigation in another direction. Your committee have since tearned, however, that Mr. Woolley was well enough on that day to take the train for a night ride to New York, and he has not appeared before your committees since, but has sent a t-legraphic certificate from some physician in New York that he is there size. It will be thus seen that Woolley, the witness, has thus far baffled and hindered the investing ation ordered by the House by contumacy in refusing to answer questions but the him, assumes that he was to judge of the material ty of the testimony and of each question but, that all inquiry upon every topic was to be having and the House could have nothing to say. Woolley with the subject matter of the inquiry with which the committee is charged, showing how necessary it is to public justice that the House should have from Woolley the frankest and fullest statement of every fact known or believed to be true by him.

It seems from the evidence that Charles W. Woolley is a lawyer, not in general practice, but attending to cases before the bureau of internal revenue, generally arrising out of alleged frauds in whisky; or, in the language of Jucge Dunlevy, a witness before the committee, and Woolley's assistant in their cases, he is a lawyer by profession, a speculator, a trader, and coss a good deal in stock speculations in fine borses, and he is a Kentuckian, considers bimself a gentleman, and has Kentucky habits. Care'ys Resolution.

A resolution was effered by Carey to-day, which produced a great flutter among the rads, as a plank in the Chicago Piatform was about to be tabled. The rads dodged the the question by having the resolution referred to the Committee on Ways and Means. The resolution declares in effect that the money received by the soldiers is good enough for the bondhedlers.

Mr. Sherman presented petitions of the same import.

Mr. Cole introduced a bill to aid in the construction of a railroad from San Francisco to Humboldt Bay. Referred.

Mr. Ramsey moved to reconsider the vote by which a bill to construct a bridge across the Ohio River, was at the last meeting of the Senste referred to the Committee on Post Offices and Post Roads, with instructions to oreport a general bill requiring all the bridges henceforth erected over the Ohio and Mississippi Rivers to have 500 feet span. He pointed out that the committee had heretofore fully considered the subject in connection with the bills to bridge the Mississippi, and had applied considered the subject in connection with the bills to bridge the Mississippi, and had applied to the War Department for information, the result of their investigations being that spans of 300 feet would be ample and was all that was asked for by the navigation interest at Ohio be referred to a committee with instructions.

Mr. Davis coincided in the statements of Mr. Morton, in regard to the injury to navigation from bridges of 300 feet span, and hoped the motion would prevail.

Mr. Morton's motion was agreed to.

Mr. Trumbuil, from the Judiciary Committee, reported adversely on several bills to direct the holding of United States Circuit and District Courts at Erie, Psonsylvanis, and at St. Isouls and St. Joseph, Missouri. He gave notice that Wednesday next he will call up the bill for the admission of Arkansa.

Mr. Morrill, of Maine, reported from the Committee on Appropriations, the army appropriation bill, with amendments. The committe recommend the striking out of the appropriation of $50,000 for signal service. They recommend the following as a substitute for section two. "That from the sums appropriated for each of the several items contained in this act, there shall be deducted the sined in this act, there shall be deducted the unexpended balance for such items which may remain in the treasury on the 30th of June 1868. Also providing that of the $60,000 appropriated in 1866 for publishing the medical suid surgical history of the rebellion, and the medical statistics of the Provost Marshal General's office, $30,000 shall be devoted to the publication of 50,000 copies of medical statistics of the Provost Marshal General's Bureau."

The amendments were agreed to and the bill prised.

The joint resolution authorizing the Sceretary of War to appropriate the captured and damaged ordinance, to the Lincoln Association, was passed.

Witherese Excuse me for saying to you here that I am glad to receive your explanation. I think there can be no need of misunderstanding where frankness is desired. I have no desire to conceal anything; nor do I desire to be embarra-sed by any of the technicalities which may be always resorted to in a long cross-examination, which my health does not permit; you shall have a frank answer to every question.

Q. Now, the question I propose to put to you is this: Some three weeks ago you had some conversation with a man named Adams, on the subject of purchasing votes, either just before or after Mr. Smith had spoken to you on the subject, and repeated what Adams had said to him.

A. All that occurred within an hour on the same day.

Q. About a week after Sheridan, Shook, E.

Address:

Indianapolis, Indiana.

Schuyler Collax an Advocate of Mob Law and Murder.
To show the malignant and flendish spirit of the man whom the radicals have selected their candidate for the second place on the presidential ticket, we publish the following letter, which was written under the followin reumstances. On the 5th day of Octobe 1864, LAMDEN P. MILLIGAN was arrested b Brevet Major General HOVEY, Military Con . mandant of the District of Indiana, and co fined in a military prison in this city. Oa tl 21st of the same month be was placed on tri before a "military commission" upon charge preferred by Major BURNETT, Judge Advoca of the Northwestern Military Departmen for "conspiracy against the Government of th United States." Objection was made by MII LIGAN to the authority of the commission t try bim, but it was overruled: he was foun guilty on all the charges, and sentenced suffer death by hanging; and this sentenc having been approved by General BURNSIDE ing all the time covered in the charges against him, and for twenty years previous, he had been an inhabitant, citizen and resident of the State of Indiana. MILLIGAN petitioned the United States Circuit Court "for discharge from unlawful imprisonment." After hearing the petition, the opinions of the judges (Judge DAVIS and Judge McDonald) were opposed upon the following questions: Oa the facts stated in the petition, whether a writ of habeas corpus ought to be issued, whether said MILLIGAN ought to be discharged from custody, and whether the military commission had jurisdiction legally to try and sentence MILLIGAN. The object of the certificate of the division of the judges in the lower court, was to get the decision of the Supreme Bench. upon the important questions involved, the main one being the legality of the military commission that tried the prisoner. The case was ably argued by some of the most eminent lawyers in the country for and against the petition, and the court after due consideration, through the Chief Justice, announced "That on the facts stated in the petition and exhibits a writ of habeas corpus ought to be issued; that MILLIGAN ought to be discharged from custody and that the Military Commission had no jurisdiction legally to try and sentence said Milligan."

After the Circuit Court in this district had heard the argument on the petition of MILLI-GAN, as stated, and a divided opinion had been given in order that the case could be carried up to the Supreme Court, Governor MORTON and a number of prominent citizens made application to the President to suspend the pass upon the appeal, and in response he finally ordered a commutation of the sentence to imprisonment for life. In this connection, we will add, and we give the authority of Governor MORTON for the statement, that President LINCOLN did not intend to allow the sentence of the court to be carried out, but it was his purpose to release MILLIGAN after the war was over. And so anxious was Governor Morton to obtain a postponement or commutation of the sentence that he sent a special messenger to effect the object. While this effort was being made and the parties to it had a full knowledge of the facts that we have related, the following cruel, infamous, malignant and blood-thirsty protest was forwarded to the l'resident: Washington, February 3, 1865.

His Excellency the President of the United States:

Site: The undersigned, members of Congress from the State of Indiana, in behalf of the loyal people of the State, respectfully but earnessly protest against any commutation of the sentence of the Military Commission against the Indiana conspirators recently arried by it, and against any interference in any manner or form with that sentence. (Signed) H. S. LANE.

Speaker H. R. U. S. GODLOVE S. ORTH, GEO. W. JULIAN.
We are informed that HENRY S. LANE re-

as he en considered the murderous intent of the protest, for such it was, and withdrew his recommenda- only be tion. Having led a comparatively blameles and honorable life, and reached an age when in jure up "We trust this outrage will not be allowed to go un junished. Democracy of the modern bastard shape simply means mob law and murder. Up North it asserts itself in riotous the due course of human events he might rea sonably expect that his own dissolution was near, he perhaps remembered in that sober sec and thought the terrible reality of meeting his Creator with the blood of innocent men on his hands, and shrank from the responsibility. souls, for such it would have been under the decision of the court, to gratify their partisan malignancy and hate.

Could anything be more strocious than this letter? Not only the life of MILLIGAN but the lives of his associates were at stake. It was believed by the best men in the country, experienced and learned lawyers, that they had been lilegally tried and convicted, and it was asked, in order that the ends of justice should be subserved, that the sentence of death should be suspended until the highest judishould be suspended until the highest judi-Alas! what a pity it is to spoil such a wellcial tribunal in the land should pass judg- told story, and to pluck the wreath of marment upon the case. Could such a fair, a just tyrdom from the dusky brow of the renowned request be denied? We do not consider the LOGAN! Let truth drives us to the cruel guilt or innocence of MILLIGAN and his asso task, and the following dispatch, which we ciates. the hypothesis that "a lie well stuck to is as

Logan as a Martyr.

Logan, the dusky son of Lo, appeareth in a new role. He has strutted and fumed and fretted, and roared and bellowed and bawled, and pitched and tore and swaggered, and fused and blustered and boasted until he became to be regarded as a very Boanerges.

"Big Indian me" stuck out of every movement. To paint him in the character of a noisy, loud-mouthed, strutting bully was to describe him as he appeared. His ambition seemed to be "In Congress to fix his station, And try to make a bluster in the nation."

Logan as a bully, a bravado and a black-guard we can understand and recognize. In these characters he is au fait. But Logan as a cand date for martyrdomf Jehosophat!

This is a new role for the fire-eating, thunder-tyrdom te "gal-li-ant" Logan aspireth. Mr. Rslph W. Newton, a broker in New York, was brought before the guano managers of impeachment, and interrogated for nours, by Butler. The private letters and telegrams of Newton had been seized by order of Butler. The witness was asked by Butler if he had, not written a certain letter to Mr. Smythe, Collector of the port at New York, and indicated the contents of the letter referred to, Mr. Newton answered that he had, and that he happened to leave the letter on the table in his room unfolded and that it was stolen from there.

"Who stole it?" inquired Butler.
"I expect you did," responded Newton. The witness was put under arrest four times by Butler before he was dismissed.—Cincinnatt Enquirer. To the Point.

From the Detroit Free Press

Since the days of the Blondin furore, when men and women stood aghast at the foolhardy daring of the great rope walker, in the performance of his remarkable feat at Nisgara Falls, no such excitement has been known. A project has recently been started, however, which, if carried into execution, will eclipse any feat of daring ever yet attempted. Charles Ockford, of this city, the sixty hour skater, has conceived the idea of making the perious passage over the Falls of Nisgara in an Iadia rubber life boat of peculiar construction. A few weeks ago the idea suggested by them that a purse of $30,000 be raised to induce him to make the unitertaking. He accordingly perfected his scheme and the contract for building the boat has been let to the Goodyear Rubber Company for $1,000. The boat will be an oblong, with a mean diameter of eight feet six inches thick at the top and sides and three feet thick at the bottom. A shaft of the same material will extend from side to side in the center, on which will be swung on a pivot a seat, to which the adventurous occupant will be fastened. Opening at the top will be an aperture sufficiently large for him to get inside, after which it will be filled with air and closed up. It is calculated that sufficient air can be retained to sustain life about twenty minutes. A small cable will be attached to the ball by which it will be towed after the descent shall have been made, for which purpose parties will be stationed in boats immediately below the falls.

The model of this novel craft is now in this city, and there is no doubt that the attempt to carry this startling project into execution will be made during the present season. Mr. Ockford is quite confident that he shall succeed, but the channes for success certainly look dubious. Should he succeed, Mr. Sydney Doty, of Pontiac, will also undertake the same feat.

As soon as the train was stopped, which As soon as the train was stopped, which was done on the regular track, the during robbers got off and took their departure, and up to this writing nothing has been learned that is likely to lead to their arrest. Three or four genilemen who were standing on the platform in Seymour when the train of the robbers reached the wood shed half a mile below, supposed it to be the regular train, then about due, wooding. But as the train remained therefully an hour without any signs of moving, the gentlemen concluded some accident had happened, and walked down to it. They then discovered the robbery.

The amount of money stolen is known to be between thirty-eight and forty thousand dollars, and likely much more. The robbery was undoubtedly the result of a well laid and thoroughly matured plan, and is probably one of the most daring that ever occurred upon any railroad in America. The safes were found yesterday at different points along the road between Marshfield and seymour, all of them badly broken up and rifled of their contents. They were so damaged as to be valueless.

Senatorial Affliction and Clerical Indignation, The Rev. Dr. Budington, in the course of an address, on Thursday evening last, at the annual meeting of the Brooklyn, New York Woman's Temperance association, said he visited Washington on Tuesday last, when the verdict on impeachment was to be given "Being desirous," said the reverend speaker of hearing the result, I made my entrance t the Senate Chamber. A gentleman and I speaking of the condition of three or speaking of the condition of three or four prominent Seantors, who for eighteen hours or more, were in such a state of beastly intoxication that there was no chance of getting them into the Senate Chamber.

A proposition was made toward conveying them in a coach. I said to myself, is it possible that I come from my home to witness such a seene as this? I can not express the feelings of indignation with which I feel oppressed.

feelings of indignation with which I feel oppressed."

The New York Tribune wants to have it understood that Democrats poisoned these radical Senators, when the truth was they were simply drunk. The Rev. Buddington knew what was the matter with them, and speaks out in meeting the true state of the case. It was "beastly intoxication," brought on by old rye, bourbon, or Cognac, and not a case of poisoning, but not the less lamentable. Cincinnati Enquirer.

RUTLAND. Strike among Irish Laborers-Seri-RUTLAND, VT., Sunday, May 24. Several hundred of the Irish laborers em Several hundred of the Irish Isborers employed in the West Rutland marble quarries, struck for higher wages some time ago. Their employers refused to accede to their demand, and sent to Canada, from whence they obtained the services of about five hundred French Canadians to fill the places of the strikers. This greatly excited the Irish laborers, and created so much ill feeling that threats have been made to destroy the quarras. BUFFALO.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL. INDIANAPOLIS, SATURDAY EVENING,

Weekly Review of the Wholesale Market.

There has been scarcely any activity in our general market, the demand for goods being unusually small, and no signs of improvement are indicated at an early day. Nothing has transpired since our last to change the general features of the flour market, and it remains in the same dull and lifeless condition which has characterized it for some time past. There is but little demand, and no anxiety on the part of holders to sell. They are unwilling to grant such cencessions as would induce buyers to take

HAY-Heavy, $12@13, in bales, on cars, for hold freely. The receipts of wheat during the week have een very light, and the market quiet and steady. In consequence of the farmers being just now outsily engaged in corn planting, etc., there is but little corn offering. The demand is good.

Oats, rye and barley continue without activiwith or without notice, the following y, and prices are merely nominal. The provision market during the week has been quiet, and no particular excitement in any article. Trade has been regular—without any ictuation, or extraordinary demand. In groceries the demand has been good and cle scarce and in demand. Leather is also firm in price; trade steady and fair. Dry Goods have been steady for the week, with a moderate inquiry for dress goods. Retailers are disposed to take hold of domestics freely. There need be no fears of a decline, with the raw material at its present price.

FLOUR—Has had a dull and lifeless market throughout the week, with but little prospect

DR. WRIGHT'S TAR SYRUP.

B"Facts are stubborn tai , 'says the old proverb, and in these alone do we intend to deal, in presenting WRIGHT'S TAR SYRUP to the public. All know the necessity of guarding against Colds, as well as the necessity for taking the proper remedies when the Colds are upon us. We say, without fear of contradiction, that the superior of Wright's Tar Syrup for the cupe of Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Bronenitis, and all diseases of the Throat and Lungs, does not exist. Below are testimonials from persons, some of whom are known in all parts of the country:

Dr. R. Shelton Mackenzie, Literary Editor Forney's Philadelphia Press, writes:

HILAD ELPHIA, July 20, 1867.

Dear Sir: Last Christmas, for the first time in my life, I was much afflicted by a very severe Cold, with almost constant Cough and sore chest. "Practice makes perfect" the proverb says, but the more I coughed the worse I did it. By what I then considered an accident, but now believe to have been a Providence, I was induced to try Dr. Wright's Tar Syrup, purchased from you, and was greatly relieved in two days, wholly cured in ten. It is not unpleasant to the taste, which is a good point. Many years ago, reading my way through an old library, I came across the works of that Bishop Berkeley, who prophetically and truly declared, more than a century ago, that "Westward the march of Empire takes its way," and among these were two treatises in which he strongly advocated the use of Tar, as curative of many diseases from Catarrh to the plague. I was then struck with the cogency of the good Bishop's arguments, and am now sure—from the efficacy of Dr. Wright's preparation of the some remedy—that they were entirely correct. Eur. L.D.

Dear Sir: Having witnessed the operation of Dr. Wright's Tar Syrup in cases of Consumption, I cheerfully recommend it te all persons so afficted. JESSE R. WALKER, Fourth and Chestnut streets, Philadelphia, Thomas Winmill, butcher, In Second Street Market, Philadelphia, writes:
After suffering for two years with Consumption and constant hemorhages, I was induced to try Dr. Wright's Tar Syrup. After using six bottles, health returned, and I am now ab to attend to my business. health returned, and I am now ab to attend to my business. Druggist, Reading, Pa., writes: S. S. After the Conference, the Chaplain, in company with a few of his preacher friends, took a little run across a prairie country, to some place, the name of which we have and does not appear to have been favorably impressed with the grandeur of these inland sess of waving grass and flowering "nigger heads." The neighborhood of "Turner Junetion" he describes as "a desirable country for sheep to graze and lambs to skip in, there being no trees for them to burt themselves against." It is to be regretted that the train did not stop long enough to let the Chaplain loose on this desirable plateau of level sward, unencumbered with trees. We fancy we see him cavorting and tearing over the velvety turf, bleating glad hosannas to the genius of liberty, and, for want of a tail, whisking his red bandana in the face of nature. The Chaplats would "skip" with considerable grace and consequence to borrow money. The city was now paying about twenty thousand dollars a year interest.

The doctor was of the opinion that, the system should be a thorough survey by scientific men, and that the system should be mapped out completely before a commencement was made. He believed in levying a tax of from inteen to twenty cents, which would yield thirry or forty thousand dollars. He was also in favor of assessing benefix on because of existence, and had been a year baltness where drainage was needed. He was also opposen to commencing sewerage until we had the money in the treasury. The city had been a year behind ever since it had a corporate existence, and had been compelled, in consequence to borrow money. The city was now paying about twenty thousand dollars a year laterest.

Mr. Brown thought that a levy of fifteen cents would not be too little. He was opposed to the system of assessing benefits recommented by Dr. Jameson. It would work beneficially in thickly populated cities, but would oot do in ourse, except in regard to a few localities. He was in favor of Mr. Seidensticker's resolution to report a levy of fifteen cents.

Mr. Davis disagreed with all the gentlemen who had spoken. The city had spent a good deal of money uselessly and foolishly—probably enough in the past ten years to construct one-fourth of the sewerage. He was in favor of a complete and thorough survey, and then, after we found out what was wanted, make a loan, payable in twenty years, and go to work. The idea of Dr. Jameson was simply not to have sewerage were general and not local, and the taxation to pay for them should also be general. Some gentleman had objected to entailing upon our posterity the debt for sewarage. Mr. Davis could see no injustice in this, as posterity would inherit our property as well as our debts. He was in favor of changing the run of Pogue's Run across the north part of the city into Fall creek, and dredging out the channel three or four feet deeper. Mr. Davis spoke of the blunders in former engineering, which had clogged the natural drainage.

Mr. MacArthur wanted to know of Mr. MacArthur wanted to know of Mr. Seidenstein, which had clogged the natural drainage.

Mr. Davis gave the required specifications.
Mr. Loomis explained that in Chicago the main sewer was only six feet, and most of Dr. Jameson spoke against Mr. Davis' proposition to issue $500,000 of twenty vears' bonds. He figured it up that in the twelve years the city would pay as much in interest as the sewerage would cost, and still have the debt hanging over us. He believed, "Pay as you go," was good advice. The Doctor also made a forcible argument in favor of the policy of assessing local benefits for sewerage.

Mr. Seidensticker said that all the members seem in favor of sewerage, and only differed as to the plan. Therefore he thought they had better vote for the resolution levying the fitteen cents tax, and plans could be discussed afterwards. The question was now whether we should make a start this year. His own idea was to commence the system in a small way, and commence where relief was most needed—in the eighth, fitth, sixth, seventh and ninth wards, and afterwards on liltinois street.

It is a sublect of frequent jests, and is called by various de risive terms; but, although it is often laughed at t is not easy to laugh the patient out of the belef that his ills are all real, for it is a real disorer-the general features of which are constafear, anxiety and gloom. The external sense, a well as the mental faculties, often manifest sympoms of derangement. Noise, as of falling water and ringing in the ears are complained of, while black specks and flery sparks frequently flit before the vision. Admonitions like these hould not be disregarded, as they may, if neg lected, triminate in insanity. The seat of the disease is in the brain and nervous system, and to control the malady it is necessary to use a werful tonic and alterative, which will correc and tone those organs without inflaming the brain.
